Today's readings again invite us into the heart of the MYSTERY we name as God. The first reading speaks of the gift of the HOLY SPIRIT who dwells in us and in whom we dwell. The second reading from 1 John is a central passage about LOVE, a passage we might well meditate on every day.

The goal of true religion is not just learning doctrines and following moral principles. Those are important, but they are not the heart of the matter. The main purpose of religion is to UNITE believers with God, or perhaps more accurately, to help people RECOGNIZE that they are already united with God though they may not realize or respond to that fundamental truth. CONVERSION is really a process of learning to see clearly the presence of God in our world and in ourselves.

This is not simply an intellectual recognition; it must be an experience of God's presence as a loving encounter with the Source of all that is. That's why more people are drawn to God by the experience of the love of others than by logical arguments.

Today's readings emphasize the importance of love. The second reading from 1 John insists that love is the key to life. "Beloved, let us love one another, because love is of God; everyone who loves is begotten by God and knows God. Whoever is without love does not know God, for God is love." What a stunning insight! When we experience love, we experience God. When we love others, we reveal God to them.

This is not love as an emotional feeling (though sometimes that accompanies true love), but as an other-focused self-giving. So, 1 John goes on to remind us: "In this way the love of God was revealed to us: God sent his only Son into the world so that we might have life through him." God's self-giving is expressed first in creation itself and later in sending the Son into our world. The first step is always God's: "In this is love: not that we have loved God, but that he loved us." Our love of God and others is a response to God's love for us.

The Gospel echoes that theme: "As the Father loves me, so I also love you. Remain in my love." The first reading reminds us that God's love extends to all people, not just our own kind. "God shows no partiality."

The last line of the Gospel is our mandate: "This I command you: love one another." Let the music and prayers this Sunday echo these scriptural insights and imperatives.

Family Faith Formation

This month marks the last classes for this academic year for Penn Yan, Naples and Prattsburgh registrants. Family Faith Formation is for all of us to learn more about our faith and build community. Consider registering yourself/family for next year's monthly meets and weekly assignments by contacting Patty.

First Holy Communion will be celebrated for Penn Yan children on Mother's Day, May 13 at the 9:30 Mass. One child will be receiving Jesus' Body & Blood in Naples on Pentecost Sunday, May 20 at the 10 AM Mass. Please continue to pray for these children and their families. Consider what receiving the Body & Blood, Soul & Divinity of Jesus means to you.

MINISTRY TO THE HOMEBOUND

Someone made a comment at the Social Ministry Committee meeting about the procedure for a priest to bring Holy Communion to someone. If you are taking Holy Communion to someone please fill out the form & either drop it into the collection basket or if there are several people, make a list with the information & submit it. Ideally a homebound person could receive Holy Communion every week & a priest visit occasionally especially to celebrate the Sacrament of the Sick.

Please fill out and return:
