In today's Gospel reading, Jesus promises, "Peace I leave with you; my peace I give to you." "Peace? What does Jesus mean by that? What can we do as Christians to make peace when we find ourselves trapped in division and turmoil? In his priceless wisdom, Jesus gives his love freely and encourages us to invite his Spirit of love to dwell in our hearts. If we live in that love, we will be transformed into the peace Christ promises.

What might that look like for you? It could simply mean looking directly at a cashier and smiling; accepting that there is often more than one right answer, or even conceding your preferred answer. It could mean patiently listening to Grandma repeating the same stories in an endless loop; refraining from political bullying and looking for realistic compromise; anonymously mowing your overwhelmed neighbor's yard rather than complaining; or sacrificing what is best for you in the interest of the greatest common good. Whenever we share love, it is multiplied in our hearts, our lives and the world. We create the atmosphere for enduring peace to thrive.

In their pastoral letter, The Challenge of Peace: God's Promise and Our Response, the U.S. Conference of Catholic Bishops clarify, "Peacemaking is not an optional commitment. It is a requirement of our faith. We are called to be peacemakers, not by some movement of the moment, but by our Lord Jesus" (#333). There is both blessing and responsibility in Christ's love. Jesus unconditionally gives us his love, so we can know and grow in love. The gift we have been given is meant to be shared so that others can know and grow in peace. Where and how are you as a Christian being called to share your love and promote the peace of Christ in our world today?

May 26, 2019 – 6th Sunday of Easter

The early church struggled with a common problem: who was in and who was not. The requirements were related to the cultural and religious practices of Jewish converts. Similar questions plague us to this day regarding who belongs in our country, our neighborhoods, our schools, even our church. The answers are easily found in Jesus' call to keep his word of love and peace. You would think we would have figured it out by now, but tribalism runs deep.

WHY DO I GIVE?

STEWARDSHIP
Managing God's Gifts To Us

I give because I am ashamed not to.

Would you give less if no one knew or cared how much you gave? Is so, you are probably giving more to satisfy your own pride than to please God. Remember that even if no one knows or cares how much you give, God does.

I give to pay for the things that I receive.

It is true that much of what you give the church is needed to pay for the things the church offers you - place to worship, a program of Christian education, pastoral care. But if your giving stops here it is hardly Christian. Any honest person will pay for what one receives.

I give to provide things for others.

This is better. Your gift helps to bring the gospel to the lost & minister to those in need around the world. Yet without God's blessing all of our gifts would accomplish nothing.

I give because I am a Steward.

This is the real reason for giving. You give because everything you have belongs to God. God has given good gifts to you to use in His service for the benefit of all humankind.

I want to give because God first gave to me.

I am grateful to God who loved me enough to send His Son to save me. Because I love God I want to dedicate myself & all I have to the Lord.

The Penn Yan Community Chorus, under the direction of Jennifer Kraemer, will present its annual spring concert on Sunday, June 2, at 2:00 PM. "It Takes a Village" is a celebration of the spirit of togetherness that makes our community a wonderful place to live. The concert will be at the First Baptist Church located at 224 Main St. in Penn Yan. Instrumental accompaniment provided on the piano by Lucinda Loomis. The Chorus' mission is to promote musical performance in Yates and the surrounding counties. Auditions are not required and membership is open to all singers. There is no charge for admission. A free will offering will be collected to be used to purchase music and to support other activities of the chorus.
